

Swedish Lapland Husky Tour

2 days on the husky tour, 4 days/3 nights

This trip is run just outside of Kiruna in Northern Sweden – above the arctic circle!

Day 1: You arrive in the afternoon/evening, transfer to base and have dinner or snack (depending on how late you arrive) and then stay the night at the Husky base camp.

Days 2 & 3: After instruction you will lead your own team of huskies on an amazing trip through forest land and across frozen rivers staying in simple wilderness cabins for the 2 nights. Lunch by a fire or in a simple hut.

Day 4: After breakfast you return to base by 10am. Transfer to airport.

You can start on any day of the week - obviously the sooner you book the better it is for choosing your own dates and there is a minimum of 2 people per trip.. This trip is very popular, partly because not everyone has a week spare, partly because you might just like to 'try' dog sledding and also because you can take teenagers and children too.

The accommodation is in cabins in bunk beds with no running water. Heating is provided by a wood burning stove and lighting by candles. The loo is outside. It is a 'hands on' trip where you are actively encouraged to look after your dogs, i.e. feed and water them and bed them down for the night (under supervision), fetch water, chop wood so you get the true feeling of being a 'musher'.

A visit to the Ice Hotel can be made during the trip This must be booked in advance and paid locally in Swedish Krone (around £35). It's worth a visit just to see the sculptures and a good opportunity to take photos.

You can also add igloo building, snowmobile adventures, XC skiing, reindeer farm visit, ice fishing and more according to how much time you have to spare. Ask Gill for details or see the 'Swedish Lapland Adventures' on the multi-activity page of our website.

Extra night's accommodation half board in a simple cabin at the base is £90 per person per night.

Cost: £795 per person (excluding 21st Dec to 2nd Jan when the cost will be £875)

Departures: upon request from mid December to mid April

Included: transfers from and to the airport, full board, an English speaking guide, extra outer clothes needed for protection from the cold, sled and your own team of huskies.

Not included: flights, travel insurance

Note: distances covered and exact programme are subject to weather conditions and client ability

Wilderness Adventure

gill@dogsledding.co.uk

01286 660384